|-------------|-----------------|---------------|--------------|---------------|-----------|-----------------|---|-----------------|---|
| 9/29/2019 | Marlins | Loss | 3-4 | 81-81 | -16.0 | Brad Miller | Hit a pair of homers for Philadelphia, which ended a run of six straight losing campaigns, yet still disappointed fans in what was expected to be a playoff season. | Blake Parker | He helped disprove Kaplar's theory that using a replacement level reliever in an "opener" role is a good idea. |
| 9/28/2019 | Marlins | Win | 9-3 | 81-80 | -16.0 | Maikel Franco | His two-run homer in the second made it 3-0, and the Phils never looked back. | Rhys Hoskins | Needs 15 more RBI to reach 100 on the season. No one is holding their breath. |
| 9/27/2019 | Marlins | Win | 5-4 | 80-80 | -17.0 | Ranger Suarez | Kept the Phils in contention with three solid scoreless innings. | Rhys Hoskins | His late season swoon is one of the reasons the Phillies are not playing in the postseason. |
| 9/26/2019 | Nationals | Loss | 3-6 | 79-80 | -18.0 | Andrew Knapp | Now that the season is over he if finally starting to hit. | Jason Vargas | Bizarro Newman falters once again. |
| 9/25/2019 | Nationals | Loss | 2-5 | 79-79 | -17.5 | Brad Miller | His seventh inning homer, his third in two games, gave the Phils a short-lived lead. | Cesar Hernandez | Went 0 for 4 with 3 strikeouts and committed an error which led to a Nationals' insurance run. |
| 9/24/2019 | Nationals | Loss | 5-6 | 79-78 | -16.5 | Brad Miller | Staked the Phils to a 3-run lead in the first inning with a three run homer, and hit a second dinger in the fourth. | Aaron Nola | Just one more example of a Phillies' starting pitcher not being able to hold a lead. |
| 9/24/2019 | Nationals | Loss | 1-4 | 79-77 | -16.5 | Cesar Hernandez | He reached base in each of his first two at bats and scored the Phils' only run. | Deivy Grullon | Facing elimination from the Wild Card Race, the Phillies brass trusted catching duties to this career Minor Leaguer. And thus, the season ends with six more games yet to play. |
| 9/23/2019 | Nationals | Loss | 2-7 | 79-76 | -16.0 | Andrew Knapp | Drove in a run and was the only Phillie with multiple hits in the game. | Zach Eflin | Walks (4) and home runs allowed (3) were his undoing. |
| 9/22/2019 | Indians | Loss | 1-10 | 79-75 | -15.5 | Scott Kingery | Doubled twice, walked, and scored the Phillies' only run. | Mike Morin | He let the game get out of control in the 7th inning when he couldn't even register a single out. |
| 9/21/2019 | Indians | Win | 9-4 | 79-74 | -15.5 | Bryce Harper | He fouled off five pitches -- two of them with two strikes -- before pounding a 79 mph slider deep into the right-field seats to put the Phillies up 5-4. | Rhys Hoskins | At 0.233, his batting average is as low as it's been since April 3. |
| 9/20/2019 | Indians | Loss | 2-5 | 78-74 | -15.5 | Nick Vincent | He may be the king of mop up duty but he kept the Phillies in the game after Drew Smyly's disastrous start. | Drew Smyly | Gave up five hits, walked three, was tagged with four earned runs allowed, and was pulled following a leadoff walk in the third. |
| 9/19/2019 | Braves | Loss | 4-5 | 78-73 | -14.5 | Cesar Hernandez | Contributed three singles and an RBI from the lead-off spot. | J.T. Realmuto | Failed to reach base in five plate appearances. |

|-------------|-----------------|---------------|--------------|---------------|-----------|-----------------|--|-----------------|--|
| 9/18/2019 | Braves | Win | 4-1 | 78-72 | -13.5 | Zach Eflin | Gave up just a single unearned run and five hits against a team he had failed to make it out of the fourth inning against in his three prior starts. | Adam Haseley | His error contributed to the Braves' only run. |
| 9/17/2019 | Braves | Win | 5-4 | 77-72 | -14.5 | Jose Pirela | Caught a hanging Dallas Keuchel slider and walloped it off the second deck facade for a difference making two-run dong. | Jean Segura | Lead off man du jour went 0 for 5 and doesn't appear to be the solution to the loss of Andrew McCutchen either. |
| 9/15/2019 | Red Sox | Loss | 3-6 | 76-72 | -15.5 | Rhys Hoskins | Homered, singled, walked, and scored two of the Phillies' three runs. | Jason Vargas | With four earned runs allowed in just three innings of work, the 36-year-old lefty dropped to 0-3 with a 5.48 ERA in nine starts since being acquired from the Mets on July 29. |
| 9/14/2019 | Red Sox | Loss | 1-2 | 76-71 | -15.5 | Aaron Nola | Took a two-hitter into the seventh before yielding a single run, the only one he allowed in his full seven innings of work. | Scott Kingery | Twice failed with men on base. |
| 9/12/2019 | Braves | Win | 9-5 | 76-70 | -14.0 | Hector Neris | Hasn't allowed an earned run in his last 8 outings. | Drew Smyly | Allowed four runs in just four innings of work. |
| 9/11/2019 | Braves | Loss | 1-3 | 75-70 | -15.0 | Bryce Harper | Collected a hit, a stolen base, and an outfield assist. | Jean Segura | His error opened the door for the Braves three-run fourth inning. |
| 9/10/2019 | Braves | Win | 6-5 | 75-69 | -14.0 | Corey Dickerson | Smacked two of the Phillies five homers to help draw the team to within two games of the second wild card spot. | Jason Vargas | He promptly gave away a four run lead in ugly fashion. |
| 9/9/2019 | Braves | Loss | 2-7 | 74-69 | -15.0 | Corey Dickerson | Has 18 extra-base hits (10 doubles, two triples, six homers) and 31 RBI in 32 games for the Phillies since being acquired from Pittsburgh on July 31. | Nick Pivetta | The game was within reach when he entered, but not when he exited. |
| 9/8/2019 | Mets | Win | 10-7 | 74-68 | -14.0 | Maikel Franco | Homered and doubled in the 4 hour, 29 minute marathon which fell just a minute short of being the longest nine inning game in National League history. | Vince Velasquez | Allowed four runs, six hits and four walks in just 4 1/3 innings of work. |
| 9/7/2019 | Mets | Win | 5-0 | 73-68 | -15.0 | Drew Smyly | Worked around three errors, limiting the Mets to four hits while striking out six. | Rhys Hoskins | Has just one hit, two walks, and one RBI in his last 21 plate appearances. |
| 9/6/2019 | Mets | Loss | 4-5 | 72-68 | -15.0 | J.T. Realmuto | You could say he is single handedly keeping the Phillies in the race for a playoff spot if they were actually winning any of these recent games. | Rhys Hoskins | He's like the second coming of Bobby Abreau, drawing walks, but otherwise failing with runners in scoring position. |
| 9/5/2019 | Reds | Loss | 3-4 | 72-67 | -14.0 | J.T. Realmuto | Tripled in the fourth and tied the game in the eighth when he led off the inning with his 21st homer. | Nick Vincent | This is what happens when you cycle through pitchers faster than Elton John cycles through sequin jump suits, you end up with a guy you just signed off the scrap heap pitching in the 11th inning of a must win game. |

|-------------|-----------------|---------------|--------------|---------------|-----------|-----------------|---|-----------------|--|
| 9/4/2019 | Reds | Loss | 5-8 | 72-66 | -13.0 | Jay Bruce | Tied the game with his third career pinch-hit homer in the seventh inning. | Aaron Nola | Struggled with his breaking pitches in his shortest outing since May 13. |
| 9/3/2019 | Reds | Win | 6-2 | 72-65 | -12.5 | J.T. Realmuto | Not only did he have a good offensive game, he was tasked with handling seven different pitchers from behind the plate. | Logan Morrison | The Phillies fourth inning rally could have been even more significant if he had not grounded into an inning ending double play. |
| 9/2/2019 | Reds | Win | 7-1 | 71-65 | -12.5 | Rhys Hoskins | Drove in three runs with two homers to lead the Phils' offense. | Andrew Knapp | Went 0 for 4 with 3 strikeouts - in other words, a typical Andrew Knapp game. |
| 9/1/2019 | Mets | Win | 5-2 | 70-65 | -12.5 | Scott Kingery | Snapped an eighth-inning tie with a three-run double. | J.T. Realmuto | Went 0 for 3 in at bats where he had a chance to drive in a run. |
| 8/31/2019 | Mets | Loss | 3-6 | 69-65 | -12.5 | Bryce Harper | Putting the ball in play led to two hits and two RBI. | J.T. Realmuto | He struck out with a man on third and no one out in the first inning, and it didn't get any better after that. |
| 8/30/2019 | Mets | Loss | 5-11 | 69-64 | -11.5 | Adam Haseley | Reached base three times and scored the game's first run. | Jared Hughes | Granted he only made one mistake, but it was a huge mistake which easily cost the Phils the game. |
| 8/28/2019 | Pirates | Win | 12-3 | 69-63 | -10.5 | Cesar Hernandez | His three hits and three RBI paced the Phillies' offense. | Sean Rodriguez | He gets the tough luck dud for striking out in a pinch hitting at bat. |
| 8/27/2019 | Pirates | Loss | 4-5 | 68-63 | -10.5 | Adam Haseley | He twice singled in runs, the second time giving the Phillies a 3-2 lead in the fourth. | Rhys Hoskins | Botched an easy catch that cost the Phillies a game. |
| 8/26/2019 | Pirates | Win | 6-5 | 68-62 | -10.5 | Corey Dickerson | Delivered a two-run shot against his former team in the eighth to give the Phillies a one-run lead. | Rhys Hoskins | It's time to end the "Rhys Hoskins in the leadoff spot" experiment. |
| 8/25/2019 | Marlins | Loss | 2-3 | 67-62 | -11.5 | Rhys Hoskins | His 25th home run of the season was the Phillies' only extra base hit. | J.T. Realmuto | Couldn't help the Phillies get anything going on offense. |
| 8/24/2019 | Marlins | Win | 9-3 | 67-61 | -10.5 | Zach Eflin | Not only did he pitch six strong innings, he also contributed two hits and a run scored on offense. Corey Dickerson gets an honorable mention for his four hits and five RBI. | Adam Haseley | Has struck out 7 times over his last 13 at bats. |
| 8/23/2019 | Marlins | Loss | 11-19 | 66-61 | -10.5 | J.T. Realmuto | Drove in the Phillies' first run and reached base safely in 4 of his 6 plate appearances. | Vince Velasquez | Couldn't survive the third inning despite entering it with a 7-0 lead. |
| 8/21/2019 | Red Sox | Win | 5-2 | 66-60 | -9.0 | Corey Dickerson | He drove in a couple of late game insurance runs and was 2 for 3 with RISP while the rest of the team was 0 for 8. | Adam Haseley | Is now hitless in his last 12 at bats. |
| 8/20/2019 | Red Sox | Win | 3-2 | 65-60 | -9.0 | Aaron Nola | Allowed two runs and one walk while striking out seven to win for the sixth time in his last seven decisions. | Andrew Knapp | So much for the 0.200 batting average. After a four strikeout, 0 for 4 performance, he is back down to 0.192. |

|-------------|-----------------|---------------|--------------|---------------|-----------|-----------------|--|-----------------|---|
| 8/18/2019 | Padres | Loss | 2-3 | 64-60 | -9.0 | Jean Segura | His pair of RBI doubles accounted for the Phillies' only runs. | Corey Dickerson | After a hot start to his Phillies career, he has cooled off considerably. |
| 8/17/2019 | Padres | Loss | 3-5 | 64-59 | -8.0 | J.T. Realmuto | Has homered in four of the last five contests and is batting .522 with four doubles, four homers and nine RBI in his last six games. | Cesar Hernandez | Had multiple chances to drive in runs and failed each time. |
| 8/16/2019 | Padres | Win | 8-4 | 64-58 | -7.0 | Bryce Harper | His three run homer in the sixth all but sealed the win for the Phils. | Scott Kingery | Went 0 for 4 and 0 for 2 with RISP. |
| 8/15/2019 | Cubs | Win | 7-5 | 63-58 | -8.0 | Bryce Harper | Blasted a grand slam with one out in the ninth inning, capping a six-run rally which capped a three game sweep for the Phillies, and stuck it to my in-law south side bandwagon Cubs fans. | Jean Segura | Errors in the field and failures at the plate seem to be piling up for him of late. |
| 8/14/2019 | Cubs | Win | 11-1 | 62-58 | -9.0 | Aaron Nola | The current Phillies ace beat the former Phillies ace both from the mound and at the plate. | Jean Segura | Went 1 for 5 with that hit coming after the Phils had already built an 11-0 lead. |
| 8/13/2019 | Cubs | Win | 4-2 | 61-58 | -9.0 | J.T. Realmuto | Homered and drove in the tiebreaking run with an RBI double in the seventh inning to lift the Phillies to victory. | Rhys Hoskins | Has just one hit over his last 21 at bats. |
| 8/11/2019 | Giants | Loss | 6-9 | 60-58 | -9.0 | Cesar Hernandez | Had three hits and two RBI to lead the Phils' offense. | Jake Arrieta | The Phils offense staked him to a three run lead in the third inning and he promptly gave up 3 runs. |
| 8/10/2019 | Giants | Loss | 1-3 | 60-57 | -9.0 | Corey Dickerson | His first inning home run was his third in seven games with his new team. | Bryce Harper | Struck out in the ninth with a man on base to end an 0 for 4 night. |
| 8/9/2019 | Giants | Win | 9-6 | 60-56 | -8.0 | Bryce Harper | Went deep twice, one of them a splash hit, and drove in four runs. | Cesar Hernandez | Went 0 for 5 including 0 for 2 with RISP. |
| 8/8/2019 | Giants | Loss | 0-5 | 59-56 | -8.0 | Cesar Hernandez | He was a perfect 1 for 1 at the plate while the rest of the Phillies were a very imperfect 0 for 26. | Andrew Knapp | Another 0fer at the plate and some shoddy defense in the 6th which allowed another Giants run to score. |
| 8/7/2019 | Diamondbacks | Loss | 1-6 | 59-55 | -8.0 | Bryce Harper | His late game homer was irrelevant, but he was the only Phillie with an extra base hit in the game so he's the stud by default. | Jason Vargas | Was charged with four runs on four hits in five innings, hitting two batters and walking three. |
| 8/6/2019 | Diamondbacks | Loss | 4-8 | 59-54 | -7.0 | Adam Haseley | Had a career-high three hits for the Phillies and drove in two runs. | Ranger Suarez | Walked two runners into scoring position and then allowed both to score to blow the Phils' lead. |
| 8/5/2019 | Diamondbacks | Win | 7-3 | 59-54 | -6.0 | Vince Velasquez | Returned to his normal job Monday (after playing in the outfield last Friday) and did it well, allowing two runs in a season-high seven innings. | Juan Nicasio | Ran into trouble trying to be the Phillies' 8th inning man. |

| 8/4/2019 | White Sox | Loss | 5-10 | 58-53 | -7.0 | Scott Kingery | Went 2 for 4 with an RBI and played solid defense at third base, and no one was left missing Maikel Franco. | Mike Morin | After the Phillies offense rallied to get the score close, he promptly allowed four earned runs in two innings of work. |
| 8/3/2019 | White Sox | Win | 3-2 | 58-52 | -7.0 | Aaron Nola | Lowered his ERA to 1.91 over his last nine starts while reaching double digits in strikeouts for the 12th time in his career, including the fourth this season. | Jean Segura | His error in the 9th inning gave the White Sox a chance to get back in the game. |
| 8/2/2019 | White Sox | Loss | 3-4 | 57-52 | -7.0 | Blake Parker | Pitched a perfect 10th and 11 th inning to keep the Phillies in the game. | Bryce Harper | Went 0 for 6 in the game including striking out in the bottom of the 7th with the bases loaded and only one out. |
| 8/1/2019 | Giants | Win | 10-2 | 57-51 | -7.0 | J.T. Realmuto | Was a triple away from a cycle, and his three run homer in the fourth gave the Phils an insurmountable 9-0 lead. | Maikel Franco | While the rest of the team was raking his slump continued with another 0 for 4 performance. |
| 7/31/2019 | Giants | Loss | 1-5 | 56-51 | -7.0 | Mike Morin | He followed up the implosion that was Vince Velasquez and Adam Morgan with a solid inning and two thirds of perfect ball. | Adam Morgan | He wasn't able to right the ship for the Phils in the sixth. He just opened up more holes below the waterline. |
| 7/30/2019 | Giants | Win | 4-2 | 56-50 | -6.0 | Drew Smyly | Tossed 7 strong innings to pick up his first win as a Phillie. | Scott Kingery | His on base percentage just isn't good enough to be a lead off hitter. |
| 7/28/2019 | Braves | Win | 9-4 | 55-50 | -6.5 | J.T. Realmuto | He hit one of the four Phillies' homers on the day but he did the most damage with his grand slam in the fifth. | Maikel Franco | He continues to disappoint just about every time his name is penciled into the lineup. |
| 7/27/2019 | Braves | Loss | 7-15 | 54-50 | -7.5 | Sean Rodriguez | Went 3 for 4 with a two-run homer and three runs scored. | Zach Eflin | His ERA over his last three games, 10.46, looks even worse than those throwback burgundy uniforms the Phillies wore in this game. |
| 7/26/2019 | Braves | Loss | 2-9 | 54-49 | -6.5 | Jean Segura | Had three hits, including a couple early ones which put the Phils in position to score. | Maikel Franco | His error in the 5th led to a big inning for the Braves which allowed them to put the game away. |
| 7/24/2019 | Tigers | Win | 4-0 | 54-48 | -5.5 | Ranger Suarez | He extinguished a fire in the 6th and pitched a scoreless 7th to register his first hold of the season. | Andrew Knapp | His 0.225 slugging percentage is laughable. |
| 7/23/2019 | Tigers | Win | 3-2 | 53-48 | -6.5 | Nick Pivetta | Pitched 3 2/3 scoreless innings late in the game to keep things even and ensure the Phils made it into extra innings. | Cesar Hernandez | His ugly 0 for 7 dropped his on base average to a very disappointing 0.325. |
| 7/21/2019 | Pirates | Win | 2-1 | 52-48 | -7.5 | Rhys Hoskins | His home run in the 11th was just his second in the last 17 games, but it was the game winner. | Brad Miller | His 0 for 3 included a failure with RISP and a GIDP. |

|-------------|-----------------|---------------|--------------|---------------|-----------|----------------|---|-----------------|---|
| 7/20/2019 | Pirates | Loss | 1-5 | 51-48 | -7.5 | Jean Segura | He reached base three times in a game the Phils collected only three hits. | J.T. Realmuto | His performance was lowlighted by four strikeouts and a throwing error. |
| 7/19/2019 | Pirates | Win | 6-1 | 51-47 | -7.5 | Adam Haseley | He homered early to tie the game and drove in an insurance run with a double late in the game. | Cesar Hernandez | He had a couple of hits in the game, but also blew his chances with runners in scoring position. |
| 7/18/2019 | Dodgers | Win | 7-6 | 50-47 | -7.5 | Bryce Harper | He tied the game with an RBI single in the 7th and also doubled and stroked a sacrifice fly earlier in the game. | Aaron Nola | Gave up three homers and was lucky to escape with a no decision. |
| 7/17/2019 | Dodgers | Loss | 2-7 | 49-47 | -8.5 | Jose Alvarez | He economically navigated through the heart of the Dodgers' order for a scoreless 5th, keeping the deficit at just one run at that point in time. | Austin Davis | He hit batters in both the 8th and 9th innings and both eventually scored. |
| 7/16/2019 | Dodgers | Win | 9-8 | 49-46 | -8.5 | Bryce Harper | Hit a two-run, walk-off double off Dodgers closer Kenley Jansen in the bottom of the ninth, and also slugged a three run homer in the 2nd. | Hector Neris | Gave up a walk, a single, and a three run homer in the 9th for his fourth blown save before hitting a batter and being tossed from the game. |
| 7/15/2019 | Dodgers | Loss | 2-16 | 48-46 | -9.5 | Scott Kingery | He gave the Phils and early lead with a third inning home run. | Zach Eflin | Allowed seven runs and nine hits in six innings. That's not going to work when Clayton Kershaw is dealing for the other team. |
| 7/14/2019 | Nationals | Win | 4-3 | 48-45 | -8.5 | Adam Morgan | Struck out three tough hitters in the 8th inning to keep the game tied. | Brad Miller | Struck out with two on and none out pinch hitting for Jake Arietta in the fifth inning. |
| 7/13/2019 | Nationals | Loss | 3-4 | 47-45 | -8.5 | Maikel Franco | Knocked in 2 of the Phillies' 3 runs and had several nice defensive plays. | J.T. Realmuto | Gave up a passed ball and went 0 for 2 with RISP. |
| 7/12/2019 | Nationals | Loss | 0-4 | 47-44 | -7.5 | Maikel Franco | With his two singles and a double he gave the Phillies a chance to score some runs but no one could get a hit while he was on base. | Jay Bruce | Went 0 for 4 on the day but really made 6 outs by grounding into a double play and popping out when he was given second life following a misplayed foul ball. |
| 7/7/2019 | Mets | Win | 8-3 | 47-43 | -6.5 | Jay Bruce | With 14 home runs for Seattle and 10 for the Phillies, he is first big leaguer to reach double-digits for two teams before the All-Star break. | Maikel Franco | Was the only Phillies starting position player without a hit. |
| 7/6/2019 | Mets | Loss | 5-6 | 46-43 | -6.5 | Maikel Franco | Had three hits in the game including a home run which gave the Phils a two run lead. | Scott Kingery | He committed an error in the field which allowed a run to score and went 0 for 5 at the plate including 0 for 2 with RISP. |
| 7/5/2019 | Mets | Win | 7-2 | 46-42 | -6.5 | Tommy Hunter | Since his return from injury, he has pitched three and a third innings without allowing a run. | Maikel Franco | He had a couple of chances to drive in runs and came up empty both times. |
| 7/4/2019 | Braves | Loss | 6-12 | 45-42 | -6.5 | Sean Rodriguez | His pinch hit home run in the sixth gave the Phils a bit of new life. Unfortunately they couldn't capitalize on it. | Zach Eflin | Staked to a four run lead in the top of the first, he promptly allowed two runs in the bottom of the first, two in the second and three in the third. |

|-------------|-----------------|---------------|--------------|---------------|-----------|---------------|--|---------------------|--|
| 7/3/2019 | Braves | Loss | 2-9 | 45-41 | -5.5 | J.T. Realmuto | His clutch two out RBI single in the sixth brought the Phils to within a run. | Nick Pivetta | He served up a pair of three run homers, including one in the sixth inning after the Phils had just closed the gap to a single run in the top half of the inning. |
| 7/2/2019 | Braves | Win | 2-0 | 45-40 | -4.5 | Aaron Nola | The ace right-hander, who was still hitting 95 mph on the radar gun in the eighth, has a 0.39 ERA over his last three starts. | Bryce Harper | His 0 for 4 performance included a GIDP. |
| 6/30/2019 | Marlins | Win | 13-6 | 44-40 | -5.5 | Brad Miller | Homered and had two RBIs to help the Phils build an early lead. | J.D. Hammer | "Hammer-time" means it's time for the opponent to get back into the game. |
| 6/29/2019 | Marlins | Loss | 6-9 | 43-40 | -6.5 | Scott Kingery | His two-run double in the fourth gave the Phillies a 4-1 lead which would have been enough to beat the Marlins if the Phils had a capable bullpen. | Adam Morgan | He allowed two inherited runners to score and gave up three runs of his own as the major contributor to the Phils' blowing a five-run lead in what was their seventh loss in just twelve games to the hapless Marlins. |
| 6/28/2019 | Marlins | Loss | 2-6 | 43-39 | -5.5 | Edgar Garcia | He cam on in relief and immediately induced a double play to end the Marlins threat in the fifth and then pitched a scoreless sixth to keep the Phils in the game. | J.T. Realmuto | Evidently facing his former team didn't inspire any greatness in this game. |
| 6/27/2019 | Mets | Win | 6-3 | 43-38 | -4.5 | Aaron Nola | Allowed just one hit, walked none and struck out 10 in his best performance of the year to date. | Hector Neris | He was still better than the Mets' Edwin Diaz, so he has that going for him. |
| 6/26/2019 | Mets | Win | 5-4 | 42-38 | -5.5 | Hector Neris | He pitched a solid 9th inning to give the Phils the opportunity to win it in the 10th. | Scott Kingery | He took a nasty 0 for 5 which included 4 strikeouts. |
| 6/25/2019 | Mets | Win | 7-5 | 41-38 | -5.5 | Maikel Franco | The second straight day he hit a go ahead two-run homer. | Jake Arrieta | The former Cy Young winner is slowly becoming a liability on this team. |
| 6/24/2019 | Mets | Win | 13-7 | 40-38 | -5.5 | Maikel Franco | Went 3-for-4 with a homer, three RBI and a walk. It was the first time he's had multiple RBI since May 1, and the first time he's collected three hits since April 19. | Zach Eflin | He not only gave up the lead twice, he also gave up more earned runs in this game than he did total in his previous three starts this month. |
| 6/23/2019 | Marlins | Loss | 4-6 | 39-38 | -6.5 | Bryce Harper | Batting leadoff once again, he reached base in three of four plate appearances and scored two runs. | Enyel De Los Santos | Making his first start this season and just th third of his career, he gave up four runs on seven hits and three walks in just four innings. |
| 6/22/2019 | Marlins | Loss | 3-5 | 39-37 | -5.5 | Bryce Harper | Homered and drove in a pair of runs from the leadoff spot. | Adam Morgan | Allowed the first three batters he faced in almost a month to reach base. All three eventually scored costing the Phillies their lead and the game. |

| 6/21/2019 | Marlins | Loss | 1-2 | 39-36 | -4.5 | Aaron Nola | Became the eighth Phillies pitcher to record 10 double-digit strikeout games, joining Steve Carlton (70), Curt Schilling (48), Cole Hamels (29), Jim Bunning (25), Cliff Lee (22), Chris Short (17) and Brett Myers (11). | Scott Kingery | Committed two errors including a very costly one in the 6th inning which allowed the eventual game winning run to score for the Marlins. |
| 6/20/2019 | Nationals | Loss | 4-7 | 39-35 | -4.5 | Jay Bruce | Went deep in the seventh inning to give himself 20 bombs for the season between the Mariners and Phillies. He also delivered an RBI-single in the fourth inning. | Nick Pivetta | In nine career appearances against Washington, the right-hander is 1-6 with a 10.80 ERA. |
| 6/19/2019 | Nationals | Loss | 0-2 | 39-34 | -4.0 | Jake Arrieta | He pitched a solid game, yielding just one run in six innings, but was out-dueled by Nationals' ace Max Scherzer in a match-up of former Cy Young winners. | Rhys Hoskins | He is now 0 for 17 lifetime versus Max Scherzer with 10 strikeouts. |
| 6/19/2019 | Nationals | Loss | 2-6 | 39-33 | -3.0 | Scott Kingery | He doesn't have enough at-bats to qualify for the batting title, but if he did, his .349 average would rank second in the majors, putting him behind only NL MVP hopeful Cody Bellinger, who is currently batting .355. | J.T. Realmuto | Went 0 for 4 at the plate, including 0 for 2 with RISP, and also had a few shaky moments behind the plate. |
| 6/16/2019 | Braves | Loss | 1-15 | 39-32 | -2.5 | Bryce Harper | Plated the Phillies' lone run of the contest with an opposite-field RBI single in the fifth inning. | Cole Irvin | He was on the mound in four separate innings and gave up runs in each of them. |
| 6/15/2019 | Braves | Win | 6-5 | 39-31 | -1.5 | Cesar Hernandez | His two-run single to the opposite field won the game for the Phillies in the top of the ninth. | Aaron Nola | Spotted a two-run lead just a couple of innings prior, he promptly relinquished it by walking a batter, hitting a batter, and serving up a three-run homer. |
| 6/14/2019 | Braves | Loss | 8-9 | 38-31 | -2.5 | Scott Kingery | Stayed hot by going 3-for-4 with a solo homer and two runs scored. | Hector Neris | He couldn't close it out despite having a two-run lead with two out in the 9th inning, making it a "titanic epic" victory for the Braves. |
| 6/12/2019 | Diamondbacks | Loss | 0-2 | 38-30 | -1.0 | Zach Eflin | Clearly the Phillies' best starter thus far this season, he held the Diamondbacks to two runs over eight innings in the tough-luck loss. | Maikel Franco | Another 0fer drops his batting average down to a pathetic 0.206. |
| 6/11/2019 | Diamondbacks | Win | 7-4 | 38-29 | --- | Scott Kingery | He gave the Phillies a 3-0 lead in the second inning with a drive to left, his seventh homer and third in two games. | J.D. Hammer | After three clean outings to begin his career, he has now given up three runs in his last three outings. |
| 6/10/2019 | Diamondbacks | Loss | 8-13 | 37-29 | --- | Scott Kingery | He left his struggles in the Reds' series behind with a triple and two homers in this game. | Jerad Eickhoff | Had a 1.50 ERA through 30 big-league innings this season. In 27 1/3 innings since, he's given up 27 earned runs, putting him at 5.02 overall. |
| 6/9/2019 | Reds | Loss | 3-4 | 37-28 | +1.0 | Jean Segura | Had the Phillies' only extra base and their only legitimate RBI. | Scott Kingery | Went 1 for 10 in the Reds series with no extra base hits. |

| 6/8/2019 | Reds | Win | 4-1 | 37-27 | +2.0 | Nick Pivetta | He not only experienced the 9th inning for the first time in his Major League career, he was able to close out the win and earn his first ever shutout. | Scott Kingery | He made a bad defensive play in the 9th inning, and was fruitless in three at bats at the plate. |
| 6/7/2019 | Reds | Win | 4-2 | 36-27 | +2.0 | Jay Bruce | Now has four home runs in his first four games as a Phillie. | Jean Segura | His putting the ball in play in the 8th led to a key insurance run, but he expanded the zone by swinging at bad pitches throughout the night. |
| 6/5/2019 | Padres | Win | 7-5 | 35-27 | +1.5 | Jean Segura | Had 3 hits including a game tying RBI single in the 7th inning, and also had a lead saving catch in the bottom of the 8th. | Rhys Hoskins | Took an 0 for 5 collar with 3 strikeouts and went 0 for 2 with RISP. |
| 6/4/2019 | Padres | Win | 9-6 | 34-27 | +0.5 | Jay Bruce | Stroked a double and two homers resulting in 6 RBI. With McCutchen done for the season, the Phillies could sure use production like this going forward. | Edgar Garcia | His ERA over his past two appearances is 94.50. |
| 6/3/2019 | Padres | Loss | 2-8 | 33-27 | +0.5 | J.T. Realmuto | He drove in both of the Phillies' only 2 runs. Sandwiched in between the Padres scoring 8 of course... | Aaron Nola | With his team in dire need of a streak snapping win, he came up more like an arse than an ace. |
| 6/2/2019 | Dodgers | Loss | 0-8 | 33-26 | +1.0 | Nick Pivetta | The right-hander was brilliant in holding the juggernaut Dodgers to just three hits, and he didn't walk a batter in his six innings. | Edgar Garcia | The Phillies lack of pitching depth is starting to rear its ugly "Ed." |
| 6/1/2019 | Dodgers | Loss | 3-4 | 33-25 | +2.0 | Bryce Harper | Singled and scored the Phils' first run in the fourth inning and smacked an opposite field two run home run to tie the game in the eighth. | Cesar Hernandez | Went 0 for 4 overall, 0 for 2 with RISP, and failed to advance a runner with none out and a man on second base. |
| 5/31/2019 | Dodgers | Loss | 3-6 | 33-24 | +3.0 | Scott Kingery | Went 2 for 4 with an RBI and one of his outs was of the productive variety. | Nick Williams | Another opportunity wasted. |
| 5/30/2019 | Cardinals | Loss | 3-5 | 33-23 | +3.0 | Bryce Harper | Had an RBI single to go along with two more doubles which ties him for the league lead with 19 on the season. In the doubles category he is now halfway to his career high of 38 which he set in his MVP season of 2015. | Maikel Franco | He hit the ball hard a couple of times, but ended up with an 0 for 4 performance which included a GIDP. |
| 5/29/2019 | Cardinals | Win | 11-4 | 33-22 | +3.5 | Bryce Harper | Led the offensive attack with 3 hits and 4 RBI. His 3 hits included a home run and his 200th career double, which was of the hustle variety. | J.T. Realmuto | One of his three failures with runners in scoring position was a strikeout with the bases loaded and just one out. |
| 5/28/2019 | Cardinals | Win | 4-3 | 32-22 | +2.5 | Cesar Hernandez | His two-run homer turned a one-run deficit into a one-run lead which wound up being the difference in the game. He is batting .349 with four long balls in May. | Nick Williams | Gifted a second chance due to Odubel's indiscretions, he managed to put the ball in play just one time in three fruitless at bats. |

| 5/26/2019 | Brewers | Loss | 1-9 | 31-22 | +1.5 | Jose Alvarez | He helped the Phillies escape the fourth inning without additional damage to keep them in the game. In the process, he lowered his ERA to 0.84 for the month of May. | Andrew McCutchen | He mailed it in when he chose not to run hard on a first inning grounder where he would have been safe had he done so due to a bobble by the fielder. It set a disparaging tone for what was to come in a disparaging game. |
| 5/25/2019 | Brewers | Win | 7-2 | 31-21 | +2.5 | Rhys Hoskins | He singled, doubled, homered, and walked in this contest, finishing the day 3-for-4 with a pair of runs scored. | Bryce Harper | With his 69th and 70th strikeouts on the season, he is now on pace for 214 on the year. |
| 5/24/2019 | Brewers | Win | 6-4 | 30-21 | +1.5 | Hector Neris | Struck out the side in the ninth for his ninth save in nine tries. | Jerad Eickhoff | The magic might be running out as he has now allowed at least four runs in each of his last three starts, upping his ERA from 1.50 to 3.86. |
| 5/23/2019 | Cubs | Win | 9-7 | 29-21 | +1.5 | Jean Segura | Extended his hit streak to 14 games with a double and a home run. | Pat Neshek | After getting the rest he requested he came out and gave up three runs in less than an inning of work. |
| 5/22/2019 | Cubs | Loss | 4-8 | 28-21 | +1.5 | Andrew McCutchen | His hustle double to start the game set the tone for the Phillies. Evidently several of his teammates are tone-deaf. | Scott Kingery | With all due apologies to Willie Mays, his centerfield defense makes Odubel Herrera look like Willie Mays. |
| 5/21/2019 | Cubs | Loss | 2-3 | 28-20 | +2.5 | Zach Eflin | He walked three and allowed a single and an RBI groundout in the first inning, but held the high-powered Cubs off the scoreboard the rest of the night. | Bryce Harper | This was his 11th straight game with a strikeout, and when he wasn't striking out, he was grounding out into the shift. |
| 5/20/2019 | Cubs | Win | 5-4 | 28-19 | +2.5 | Cesar Hernandez | Went 3-for-5 with a triple and two RBI, and now has eight hits in his last four games to push his average up to .310, which is the highest it's been since the third game of the season. | Odubel Herrera | With his average down to .225 after another 0 for 4 performance, and with a string of lefty starters on the way he may be grabbing some bench over the next couple of days. |
| 5/19/2019 | Rockies | Win | 7-5 | 27-19 | +2.5 | J.T. Realmuto | He tied the game at 5 in the sixth inning with his first career pinch-hit homer. | Rhys Hoskins | Has now gone 36 straight at bats without an extra base hit. |
| 5/18/2019 | Rockies | Win | 2-1 | 26-19 | +1.5 | Bryce Harper | He walked and doubled in addition to pounding a long, first inning home run. | J.T. Realmuto | He twice stranded a pair of runners in the early innings of a very close game. |
| 5/17/2019 | Rockies | Win | 5-4 | 25-19 | +1.5 | Andrew McCutchen | Evidently the additional batting practice paid off. | Rhys Hoskins | Has just one hit over his last 14 at bats, with 6 strikeouts. |
| 5/16/2019 | Brewers | Loss | 3-11 | 24-19 | +1.5 | Jean Segura | He is now 17 for 34 in the first inning of games with 4 doubles and 3 homers. | Cesar Hernandez | He had another sketchy defensive play in this game to go along with an 0 for 4 performance at the plate. |

| 5/15/2019 | Brewers | Loss | 2-5 | 24-18 | +2.5 | Jean Segura | His first inning home run gives him 16 first inning hits which leads the National League. | Sean Rodriguez | In a game where most of the Phillies' players looked like a bunch of Little Leaguers on defense, his failure to execute a double play in the third innings was particularly egregious. |
| 5/14/2019 | Brewers | Loss | 1-6 | 24-17 | +3.5 | Austin Davis | Three solid, scoreless innings of middle relief drops his ERA to 1.50 for the season. | J.T. Realmuto | He had opportunities with runners in scoring position in both the first and third innings and failed to come through each time with a pop out and a GIDP. |
| 5/13/2019 | Brewers | Win | 7-4 | 24-16 | +3.5 | Cesar Hernandez | He scored in each of the Phillies' three run scoring innings, including the fifth when he tied the game with a two-run homer. | Bryce Harper | This was his 19th multiple strikeout game of the season which leads the majors. As Karl Ravech pointed out at least a dozen times, he played some good defense in this game, but nothing Aaron Altherr couldn't have done for about $24.5 million per year less. |
| 5/12/2019 | Royals | Win | 6-1 | 23-16 | +3.0 | Cole Irvin | His standout performance came thirteen years to the day another lefty with the same first name made his Phillies debut on the mound. Cole 2.0 gave up one more run than Cole 1.0, but Rev 2 also went two more innings and notched the victory. | Maikel Franco | Over the last few games he has started to look more like a typical #8 hitter. |
| 5/11/2019 | Royals | Win | 7-0 | 22-16 | +3.0 | Zach Eflin | With the shutout, he became the first pitcher in Major League Baseball with two complete games on the season. | J.T. Realmuto | His only hit came after the game was pretty much decided, and as the designated hitter it's not like he gets credit for calling Eflin's shutout. |
| 5/10/2019 | Royals | Loss | 1-5 | 21-16 | +3.0 | Bryce Harper | Reached base in all four of his plate appearances with a single and three walks. | Cesar Hernandez | He struck twice with runners in scoring position and went 0 for 4 overall. |
| 5/8/2019 | Cardinals | Win | 5-0 | 21-15 | +3.5 | Jerad Eickhoff | Spun eight scoreless innings in this one, allowing just one extra base hit among three total with four strikeouts against three walks. He has now held opponents to one run or fewer in five of his six outings thus far this season. | Jean Segura | Is now 0 for his last 12 following his second consecutive 0 for 5. |
| 5/7/2019 | Cardinals | Win | 11-1 | 20-15 | +2.5 | Bryce Harper | His grand slam in the second inning gave the Phils and early 6-0 lead which they would not relinquish. | Jean Segura | He hit the ball hard a couple of times, but he was the only player in the starting lineup without a significant offensive contribution. |
| 5/6/2019 | Cardinals | Loss | 0-6 | 19-15 | +1.5 | Nick Williams | He came into the game as part of a double switch and promptly singled in his first at bat. | Vince Velasquez | He took a no-hitter into the fourth inning, and in totality he only gave up one single. The problem was the five walks and three home runs he gave up and the fact he couldn't register a single out in the fifth inning. |

| 5/5/2019 | Nationals | Win | 7-1 | 19-14 | +1.5 | Zach Eflin | His seven innings of four-hit, one-run ball were impressive, but it was his perfectly timed and well executed RBI bunt in the sixth inning that clinched him victory in the Stud of the Game contest. | Odubel Herrera | He was slightly more patient at the plate in this game, but still highly unproductive. |
| 5/4/2019 | Nationals | Loss | 8-10 | 18-14 | +1.5 | Sean Rodriguez | Went 2 for 3 with an RBI double and 2 walks. | Odubel Herrera | In his first game back from a stint on the Injured List, he came to the plate twice, both times with runners in scoring position, and both times popped out on the first pitch he faced. |
| 5/3/2019 | Nationals | Win | 4-2 | 18-13 | +2.5 | Rhys Hoskins | His hitting a home run off of Dan Jennings after Nationals manager Davey Martinez pulled a very effective Jeremy Hellickson after just 79 pitches was reminiscent of how Gabe Kapler pulled Aaron Nola after just 68 pitches on opening day 2018 so that Hobby Milner could give up a homer to Freddie Freeman. #neverforget | Andrew McCutchen | Struck out once and grounded out three times including twice into the shift. |
| 5/1/2019 | Tigers | Win | 7-3 | 17-13 | +2.0 | Maikel Franco | Thus far this season, he has more hits, RBI, runs scored, extra base hits, homers, and walks than does Manny Machado. In addition to cash, the Padres 300,000 million dollar man has more strikeouts than he does, but that's about it. | Bryce Harper | He made better contact in this game, and even drove the ball the opposite way a couple of times, but he is still struggling to come through in important situations, like when there are men on base. |
| 4/30/2019 | Tigers | Loss | 1-3 | 16-13 | +1.0 | Juan Nicasio | He kept the Phillies in the game with two strong innings of middle relief. | Bryce Harper | Another two strikeouts in this game gives him 38 for the season which is "good" for third most in all of Major League Baseball. |
| 4/28/2019 | Marlins | Win | 5-1 | 16-12 | +1.5 | Zach Eflin | Tossed the Phillies first complete game of the Gabe Kapler era, and only the fifth complete game in all of Major League Baseball thus far this season. | Cesar Hernandez | Joe DeCamara evoked the name of Chuck Knobloch when describing his recent issues on defense. |
| 4/27/2019 | Marlins | Win | 12-9 | 15-12 | +1.5 | Maikel Franco | It has now been over a calendar year since he struck out in back to back plate appearances. That streak covers more than 500 consecutive plate appearances. | Cesar Hernandez | Supposedly he is a speed guy, yet he twice ended innings by grounding into a double play. |
| 4/26/2019 | Marlins | Win | 4-0 | 14-12 | +0.5 | Jerad Eickhoff | He was dominant in this game, racking up six strikeouts over seven innings of shutout baseball. He allowed just two hits and one walk in the brilliant performance, and has pitched very well since his promotion from Triple-A, compiling a 2.12 ERA, 1.00 WHIP and 4/1 strikeout to walk ratio over his first 17 innings so far this season. | Andrew McCutchen | Has been cold at the plate of late, with just 7 hits in his last 40 at bats. Perhaps it's time the 32-year old gets a day off. |

| 4/25/2019 | Marlins | Loss | 1-3 | 13-12 | -0.5 | Aaron Nola | Allowed just one run through 6 2/3 innings but had to settle for a no-decision as the Phillies continue to struggle at the plate. | Rhys Hoskins | He had the payback 9th inning home run in Thursday's game, but with Runners in Scoring Position he has only one hit in his last eight at bats. |
| 4/24/2019 | Mets | Win | 6-0 | 13-11 | --- | Rhys Hoskins | His hustle triple in the 8th earned him the stud, but his 9th inning homer with a record breaking 34.23 second trot to show up Jacob Rhame, who nearly beamed him twice the night before, was poetic justice and hopefully sets an appropriate tone for the rest of the season. | Nick Williams | He hasn't had a hit in his last eight appearances and is now batting 0.150 overall. |
| 4/23/2019 | Mets | Loss | 0-9 | 12-11 | -1.0 | Maikel Franco | His two hits, one of them a double, both came before the game got out of hand. | Drew Anderson | He allowed the Mets to break the game open by loading up the bases and then yielding a grand slam. |
| 4/22/2019 | Mets | Loss | 1-5 | 12-10 | --- | Rhys Hoskins | Accounted for the Phillies' only run with a fourth inning homer. | Andrew McCutchen | At the plate with runners at 2nd and 3rd and only one out in the third, he inexcusably failed to put the ball in play. |
| 4/21/2019 | Rockies | Loss | 1-4 | 12-9 | +1.0 | Andrew Knapp | Had a double, three walks, and scored a run in the loss. | Cesar Hernandez | His base running mistake cost the Phillies a prime scoring opportunity in the fourth. It was a mistake so egregious that one contributor almost called for his benching. Almost, that is, until said contributor realized the Phillies' only alternative at the moment is Mitchell Walding. |
| 4/20/2019 | Rockies | Win | 8-5 | 12-8 | +1.0 | Phil Gosselin | The third-string shortstop hit a key three-run double to put the Phillies ahead to stay. | Pat Neshek | His 8th inning struggles allowed the Rockies back in the game. |
| 4/19/2019 | Rockies | Loss | 3-4 | 11-8 | --- | Bryce Harper | His drop of a fly ball in the second inning was rather egregious, but he made up for it with his first career five hit game, which included a bunt single to beat the shift. | Cesar Hernandez | Went 0 for 6 with two strikeouts and missed tagging out Garrett Hampson on a sixth inning double which allowed the Rockies to extend the inning and tie the game. |
| 4/18/2019 | Rockies | Loss | 2-6 | 11-7 | +1.0 | J.T. Realmuto | It would be nice if his willingness to take pitches the opposite way rubbed off on Harper and Hoskins. | Roman Quinn | After hitting the cover off the ball in his rehab assignment, he promptly went 0 for 4 with 4 strikeouts in his first game back in the majors. |
| 4/17/2019 | Mets | Win | 3-2 | 11-6 | +1.5 | Jake Arrieta | In eight plus solid innings, he gave up only six hits, four of which were infield hits, and recorded 15 outs via ground balls. | Andrew McCutchen | He had trouble adjusting to the home plate umpire's strike zone. |
| 4/16/2019 | Mets | Win | 14-3 | 10-6 | +0.5 | Scott Kingery | His three hits in three consecutive starts is the first time a Phillie has done that since Ben Revere in 2015. Let's hope his career turns out a little better than Revere's. | Aaron Altherr | Other than Pivetta, he was the only Phillie to not have a hit or walk in the Phillies' 10-run first inning. |

| 4/15/2019 | Mets | Loss | 6-7 | 9-6 | -0.5 | Adam Morgan | After two more stellar frames in this game, he is up to 7 1/3 scoreless innings on the season with only 3 hits surrendered and no walks. | Rhys Hoskins | He played defense like a bull fighter (that's not a good thing), and at the plate most of his quality contacts ended up foul balls because he is trying to pull everything. He could be an elite player if he could play defense and hit to all fields. |
| 4/14/2019 | Marlins | Win | 3-1 | 9-5 | +0.5 | Vince Velasquez | He's sporting a 2.25 ERA following two very good starts and one relief appearance, but that number will surely be put to the test in his next start against the Rockies at Coors Field. | Andrew Knapp | His passed ball in the eighth inning allowed the go ahead run to advance into scoring position, and his 0 for 3 with RISP wasn't pretty either. |
| 4/13/2019 | Marlins | Loss | 3-10 | 8-5 | -0.5 | Andrew McCutchen | He finally gets his props after saving a run with a nice catch in the second inning and a double in the third inning which was the only Phillies hit that came before the game got out of hand. | Zach Eflin | He was awful in this game, allowing three homers and not fooling any Marlin hitters. If there was a positive to take out of this start, he was able to strike out four and didn't walk anyone, but calling that a tiny consolation is an insult to tiny consolations. |
| 4/12/2019 | Marlins | Win | 9-1 | 8-4 | -0.5 | Jake Arrieta | Struck out eight and walked just one to secure his 100th career victory. | Maikel Franco | His single was really a "safe on error," and that came in the eighth inning when the game was essentially already decided. |
| 4/10/2019 | Nationals | Loss | 1-15 | 7-4 | --- | Cesar Hernandez | Rumor has it that he is an ardent follower of the Phillies Stud & Dud blog, so perhaps receiving this award will give him the confidence he needs to overcome his recent struggles. Hail Cesar! | Nick Pivetta | It's bad when your best pitcher on the night was a utility outfielder (Aaron Altherr) that is probably going to get cut later in the week (when Roman Quinn comes off the DL). |
| 4/9/2019 | Nationals | Loss | 6-10 | 7-3 | +0.5 | Seranthony Dominguez | He needed only four pitches to record two outs and right the ship in the 7th. Had Kapler kept him in to pitch the eighth and used Neris in the ninth, a Phillies victory would have most likely ensued, instead of the train wreck that followed. | Aaron Nola | An ace with a five-run lead should be automatic. His throwing hanging breaking balls was ridiculous. |
| 4/8/2019 | Nationals | Win | 4-3 | 7-2 | +1.0 | Rhys Hoskins | One contributor is happy they received his jersey for Christmas, while another contributor laments having passed over his jersey for a Jorge Alfaro jersey instead. | Andrew McCutchen | Struck out three times, and along with all the rest of the Phillies not named Rhys Hoskins, was uncharacteristically impatient at the plate. |
| 4/7/2019 | Twins | Win | 2-1 | 6-2 | +0.5 | Zach Eflin | Through two games he has been "Effing" awesome. | Cesar Hernandez | One contributor has gone so far as to say he has been "crud," while several other contributors are calling for Kapler to give Scott Kingery a chance at second base. |
| 4/6/2019 | Twins | Loss | 2-6 | 5-2 | -0.5 | Rhys Hoskins | Got the Phillies on the board in the fourth inning with a solo blast and also drew a pair of walks in the contest. | Cesar Hernandez | Had a chance with a man on third and one out in the sixth and all he could muster was a shallow pop fly. Had another chance with the bases loaded in the eighth and all he could muster then was a weak groundout. |

|-------------|-----------------|---------------|--------------|---------------|-----------|------------------|---|-----------------|--|
| 4/5/2019 | Twins | Win | 10-4 | 5-1 | +0.5 | Rhys Hoskins | Atoned for a costly fielding blunder in Wednesday's loss to the Nationals with a three-hit, four RBI game. | Cesar Hernandez | Committed a bad error coving first base in the fifth, and had a couple less than stellar plate appearances in the latter innings, including a pop out with the bases loaded in the sixth, and a GIDP when he should have been sacrificing in the eighth. |
| 4/3/2019 | Nationals | Loss | 8-9 | 4-1 | -0.5 | Andrew McCutchen | His bases clearing double in the 8th should would have been the game winning hit for the Phillies had it not been for some shaky, late-inning pitching and defense. | David Robertson | Walking three people and one coming in as a run is really bad! |
| 4/2/2019 | Nationals | Win | 8-2 | 4-0 | +0.5 | Zach Eflin | Not only was his eye color more consistent than Max Scherzer's, so was his pitching... But seriously, he went toe to toe with Scherzer and flat out outperformed him. In addition, he facilitated the scoring of the Phillies second run in the fourth inning when he extended his at bat to seven total pitches, the fifth of which was a passed ball that allowed the runner from third to score. | Rhys Hoskins | He watched way too many pitches cross the middle of the plate. His throw to second on Scherzer's third inning bunt, although successful, was probably an unnecessary risk. And in the words of one Stud & Dud contributor, "0 for 5 is pretty duddy." |
| 3/31/2019 | Braves | Win | 5-1 | 3-0 | +1.0 | Bryce Harper | Even Stud & Dud Report contributors still not 100% on board with him as a Phillie, and with no plans to purchase his jersey, are voting for him as the stud of this game. | Odubel Herrera | Swinging at the first pitch well out of the strike zone after the previous three batters were all walked was both inexcusable and pitiful. |
| 3/30/2019 | Braves | Win | 8-6 | 2-0 | --- | J.T. Realmuto | Bryce Harper's home run was awesome and majestic, but his homer was clutch. | Nick Pivetta | Gave up a game opening triple, and mislocated his fastball all day to guys like Freeman, who made him pay. He walked the first batter he faced after the Phillies took the lead in the fourth, and ultimately gave up that lead. |
| 3/28/2019 | Braves | Win | 10-4 | 1-0 | --- | Rhys Hoskins | McCutchen set the tone, Herrera and Hernandez were clutch, Franco was timely, but he provided the dagger which closed the deal for the World Series bound Phillies. | Bryce Harper | He may not have helped the Phillies today, but at least his subtraction from the Nationals led to their scoring zero runs in an opening day loss to the Mets. |

How To Contribute to The Phillies Stud & Dud Report:

Any self-proclaimed Phillies fan can contribute to the Stud & Dud Report. The rules are simple. For any Phillies game you watch, listen to, or otherwise follow, decide upon which player played the best (stud) and which player played the worst (dud) during the game. Email your selections to cjrogers2002@yahoo.com by Noon the next day. The official Stud & Dud will be chosen by the most votes from all emails received. Managers, coaches, announcers, etc. are not eligible studs or duds - only players who played in the reported upon game.
